

The Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence on the Integration of Migrants in Europe \(IntoME\) has been established in September 2020 at the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures, History, Philosophy and Law Studies (DISTU) of Tuscia University (Viterbo, Italy). It aims to be an education and research platform on migration and asylum processes, with a special focus on integration matters. IntoME promotes excellence in its research and teaching activities, by connecting networks of academics and high-level experts with strong competence on immigration, asylum, integration, inclusion and participation studies. The Centre of Excellence is committed to establish synergies with other Jean Monnet modules and centres working on issues of common interest (inter alia) by inviting their staff members to take part in IntoME activities and actively engaging in other JM projects. Furthermore, the Centre of Excellence is connected to the Academy of Law and Migration (ADiM), created in 2018 as a result of the Project of Excellence (2018-2022) awarded to the DISTU Dept. by the Italian Ministry of Education and Research (MIUR) for the quality of its scientific publications in the public law area. With its 393 members, among Italian and European scholars, and 20 institutional partners, from Europe and North Africa, ADiM is a consolidated forum supporting IntoME activities, especially in the search of new avenues of collaboration with academic institutions in Europe and beyond.

IntoME SUMMER TRAINING SCHOOL on Unleashing the Potential of Legal Migration Through a Whole-of-Society Approach (27 June 2022 – 1st July 2022)

The second edition of the IntoME Summer Training School will provide attendees with an extensive and thorough understanding of key drivers shaping regular migration: i) legal migration for work, which is connected to the skills divide, the attraction of talents and the recognition of qualifications; ii) extended family reunification and education pathways, which relate to the relevance of family unit and education for young generations in domestic social policy; iii) humanitarian admission via resettlement, complementary pathways and other “active refugee admission policies”, applicable in situations of protracted and mass displacement.

These dimensions will be explored from an interdisciplinary and multi-stakeholder perspective, at local, national, and supranational level, accounting for the contribution of organised civil society, diasporas, and grassroots groups. To this aim, leading academics, practitioners, and experts in the fields of labor law, EU law, welfare studies and public policies, geography and territorial processes will be involved.

ADiM Doctoral and Postdoctoral Colloquium – Addressing forced migration in the Schengen area: The Ukrainian crisis as a turning point? (6-7 October 2022)

The fourth Doctoral & PostDoctoral Colloquium of the Academy of Law and Migrations (ADiM), organized in cooperation with the Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence on the Integration of Migrants in Europe (IntoME), will take place on 6 and 7 October 2022 in Lampedusa, Italy. Like the previous editions, the aim of the Colloquium is to enhance the scientific contribution of young researchers in the migration field (Ph.D. students, postdoctoral researchers and research fellows), promoting discussion across disciplines and with experts on this field. The fourth edition will be entirely devoted to addresses the issue of mass migration and human mobility in a rapidly changing global context, with a privileged focus on managing the reception of Ukrainian citizens in one or more Member States of Europe, on temporary protection as an alternative model of migration management, and its impact on the destiny of the New Pact on Migration and Asylum.

European Forum Call for Papers: Special Focus on 'Instrumentalisation of Migrants, Sanctions Tackling Hybrid Attacks and Schengen Reform in the Shadows of the Pact' (31 March 2022)

As the “new” Pact on Migration and Asylum remains deadlocked, the Commission’s last attempt to cope with the refugee and migration crisis at Europe's borders is running on a twin track. On the one hand, this involves temporary measures pursuant to art. 78(3) TFEU to assist Poland, Lithuania, and Latvia in managing the emergency at the Belarusian border. On the other, it promotes a structural reform of the Schengen Border Code, which appears to be aimed at re-establishing mutual trust in intra-Schengen cooperation at the internal borders through a twofold approach: by ensuring the swift transfer of migrants apprehended at the internal borders while expanding Member States’ discretion to prolong internal border controls in response to persistent threats. The cutting edge of the proposed reform is an emergency mechanism applicable in exceptional situations of “instrumentalisation of migrants” by third countries, complemented by new measures to respond to epidemic situations. The Special Focus aims to foster debate and to highlight the theoretical and practical implications of a crucial move towards the future of the Area of Freedom, Security and Justice.
